How to print and make your book

1. Print it

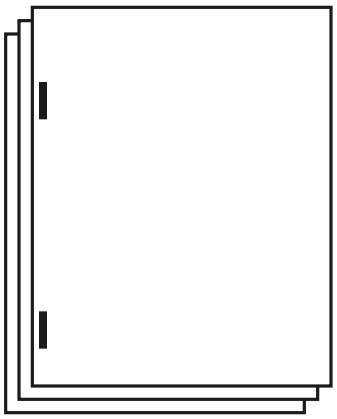

Letter paper (8.5 x 11 in). Choose "Actual size" or 100%, not "Fit".
One-sided, so markers don't show through. Black and white is fine;
print the cover in color if you can.

2. Choose your paper

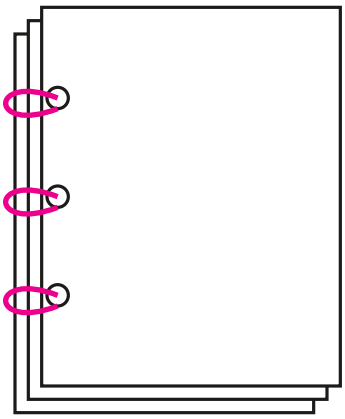

Crayons and colored pencils: everyday printer paper, 20 to 24 lb (75 to 90 gsm).
Markers: heavier smooth paper, 28 to 32 lb (105 to 120 gsm), or 65 lb (176 gsm) cardstock.
Paint and the cover: cardstock, 80 to 110 lb (216 to 300 gsm), smooth and bright white.
Pick paper marked "for inkjet" or "for laser" to match your printer. Most printers take 65 lb; for heavier, use the back or single-sheet tray and choose "Cardstock" in the print settings.
With markers, slide a spare sheet underneath in case the ink soaks through.

3. Put it together

Stack the pages in order with the cover on top and line up the edges.
Staple twice along the left edge, or punch holes and tie them with yarn or ribbon.
Grown-ups: keep the staples and the hole punch on your side of the table.
